

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Announcement:

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED A
Letter from the Ford Motor Company announcing the elimination of all territory lines.

This grants us the privilege of selling Ford Cars, Trucks and Tractors anywhere in the United States.

We appreciate this privilege because it permits us to serve our friends, in near-by territory, who have always expressed a desire to buy Ford products here, but could not do so on account of territory restrictions.

We feel that the public will appreciate this action of the Ford Motor Company giving them an opportunity to buy a Ford at the most convenient place, from the dealer who is in position to render the best service.

We are also glad to state that we are receiving some extra Cars and Tractors during the winter months, which enables us to make prompt delivery of all types.

In the Spring and Summer we cannot get any more than our contract specifies, which will not be enough to supply the demand.

AN APPEAL FOR THE ASSOCIATED CHARITIES

To the Thoughtful and Christian People of High Point:

As a member of the finance committee of the Associated Charities of our city and as one who has tried to keep in fairly close touch with the activities of this organization, I am making this public appeal through the local press for the generous support on the part of all of our citizenship of this most worthy cause.

For a few years past some of the Christian people of our community have, through organized and systematic effort, rendered aid and succor to a portion of those of our people who through misfortune and force of circumstances have been rendered objects of more or less charity. Sympathy and financial help has been given many cases of worthy distress whenever the funds of our organization permitted, but rare has been the case where sufficient aid has been given simply because of the woeful lack of adequate means with which to meet the absolute and constant demands of the situation. Last year more was done in this respect than ever in all the past, but even then with all of the general prosperity in our midst we were unsuccessful in raising funds to properly care for the many cases of distress and suffering found among our unfortunates.

For this winter and the coming months the demands are bound to be heavier than ever before, due in part to the changed industrial conditions which have thrown so many of our people out of employment just at that season when expenses and sickness are double their usual proportions. Already the cries of actual distress are heard and the many calls for aid are increasing.

We, as a prosperous community composed largely of Christian men and women, people whom God has abundantly blessed in temporal as well as spiritual things, are now face to face with the appeal from the Associated Charities for a generous and hearty contribution to the positive needs of this systematized method of relief. We are called upon to give in abundance and in proportion to the blessings of God which he has bestowed upon us.

Of all the virtues which we may possess let charity be the first and most helpful. Let us at this season remember the service of the good Samaritan and not be classed with those who passed by on the other side. How splendid and how satisfying it would be should all of our people who are so able to give respond to the appeals of the unfortunates and the "down-and-outs" at this season when we are summing up the goodness of our God to us for the year now so rapidly drawing to a close by opening our hearts in a big, generous way and contributing to the extent of our ability, even to the extent of personal sacrifice of pleasure and comfort if need be.

Let us not turn a deaf ear to this call or close the doors of our hearts against the cry of the sick and hungering, the desolate hovel or perchance the motherless babe.

Our organization this year will carefully maintain an Honor Roll through the newspapers of our city in which will be printed from day to day the names and amounts of all contributors, and contributions, not for the sake of giving publicity to what each of us may do, but in the hope that others may be made to feel the call also and likewise respond.

Many of our people will receive direct appeals by letter for their gifts, but many others will doubtless be overlooked. This, however, will not excuse any of us and all contributions large and small will be cheerfully received by Virgil Idol or Earl Steed at the Commercial National Bank or by Mrs. Frank Gurley, our efficient secretary and worker. Receipts will be given and proper record made of each and every item.

The Associated Charities of High Point is your organized and systematic method of relief to the worthy as well as your protection against the fake or impostor. The entire personnel of this organization appeals to you in the name of the Master for your full sympathy and your generous support.

FRED N. TATE,
Member of Finance Committee.

BRISK TRADING HERE AT PRESENT

Complete Assortments of Christmas Merchandise Have Been Placed in Local Stores

Brisk trading in High Point has been very much in evidence during the past week and the indications are that local merchants are going to enjoy the largest Christmas trade they have had in many years.

With complete assortments of holiday merchandise having been placed in the stores of the city High Pointers are now buying heavily here. The old adage "go away from home to do your shopping" has lost its innings in High Point, local citizens declare. People of the Furniture City, it is apparent, have come to a realization of the fact that it pays to trade at home and this year they are doing their buying here, because they can get just as good bargains in High Point as they can get in cities nearby.

Merchants announce that they have reduced their prices to conform with the new prices asked for the same merchandise by the manufacturers. In view of that fact it is believed that at the end of the Christmas holidays men conducting retail business establishments in this city may say they have enjoyed the largest trade in the history of High Point.

Several local merchants are now conducting sales and the only requirement to be convinced that unmatchable bargains are offered is to watch the advertisements appearing in The Review.

FOR A MODERN ABBATOIR FOR CITY

Bids for the proposed abattoir for High Point were opened Friday at 12 o'clock, but several would-be bidders asked for more time and an adjourned meeting on the proposition resulted.

Five and a half acres of land, on the Archdale road, adjoining the Blair dairy farm, were recently purchased by the city council with the view of establishing the abattoir on that property. Several property owners in that section, it was said, are objecting strenuously to the plans of the councilmen and have requested that their objection be heard.

Fixtures for the abattoir have already been purchased at a cost of $1,800. The councilmen propose to make it a modern slaughterhouse that will compare favorably with those of the larger cities, but on a smaller scale.

Property owners between High Point and Archdale, it was said, contend that establishment of the abattoir will decrease the value of their property.

BOY SCOUT MOVEMENT REVIVED IN HIGH POINT

In the meeting of the High Point council of Boy Scouts Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in the chamber of commerce rooms, encouraging reports were heard from the six scout masters now active. The reports included the fact that there are already two registered troops of scouts in High Point with the probability of four more by January, when it is expected that there will be a total enrollment of 125 boys.

The council decided that the number of members in that body be limited to 15, because it is generally accepted that with a larger number it is almost impossible to have a full attendance at any meeting. It was further decided that each member of the new council be assessed $5 as an initiation fee, which a number of the members paid directly.

Besides this, a committee was appointed to confer with the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs and enlist their cooperation in the scout movement immediately.

The new council is composed of W. G. Munyan, S. L. Davis, O. A. Kirkman, Dr. H. B. Hiatt, P. H. Johnson, A. S. Caldwell, Dr. J. T. Burrus, David Harris, J. M. S. Salisbury, J. W. Harris, S. H. Tomlinson, A. T. Wishart and P. V. Kirkman.

The officers elected are as follows: O. A. Kirkman, president; S. L. Davis and Dr. H. B. Hiatt, vice presidents; P. V. Kirkman, secretary; David Harris, treasurer; A. T. Wishart, scout commissioner; W. M. Marr, deputy scout commissioner.
